

Dedicated to Wiilly

Tischwolf

孤独なウェアウルフ

東方輝針城 ～ Double Dealing Character

Composed by ZUN (上海アリス幻楽団)

Arranged by Schneeheide

Piano

Awoooo (♩ = 111)

staccato
ff

3

mp ff

5

fff ff

7

mp ff

9

mf

Sost. Ped.

12

mp p ppp p p

gva.

rit.

Red.

17

gva.

rit.

f mf mp p pp

Red.

21

a tempo

p ff sub.

25

29

33

fff mf m.s. f sub.

36

mp ff sub. f mp (m.d.)

39

mf 8va

42

f 8va sempre loco

44

8va (loco)

46 gva.
p sub. (loco) ff Red.

48 gva.
mf p pp Red.

8va

Some trivia because I ended up with so much space on the last page: The 1/16 motif at the beginning is based on 'Variations, Op. 1' by Boris Tishchenko - Variation 10 to be exact. When I heard it for the first time in March 2022, it immediately reminded me of Lonesome Werewolf. This is how this arrangement came to be. Well, I started working on it at the end of September 2022, so there was quite the gap. And from there onwards I applied my typical working routine - i.e. I would work a little bit on it from time to time and then let it rot/ripen for months. Major development happened on December 31st 2023 and around New Year's. Now, in April 2024, I've spent several days working obsessively on the sheets, which hopefully brings this project to a proper conclusion. Regarding the title, 'Tischwolf'. I couldn't remember the name of the composer very well, so when I saved my project file, I just typed 'Tisch' (German for 'table') instead of 'Tishch' (admittedly, it's fairly close) and added 'wolf' (because of Lonesome Werewolf, and wolf also means 'Wolf' in German), hence 'Tischwolf'. A Tischwolf is also a type of mincing machine (that is used on a table), and somehow all of these things combined amused me, so I stuck with the title until the end, and now it's still there. - 2026 Edit: It's January 2026 now and perhaps it might be time to finally get this out of the system.